Some Services are provided to the User free of charge (e.g., registering, creating, and accessing to the Personal Account). However, some other Services (e.g., depositing (registering) the IP items, issuing and (or) delivering Certificates of Deposit, etc.) are provided on a reimbursable basis. Meanwhile, it’s only Users are over 18 (eighteen) years old or their legal representatives – parents or guardians (the “Legal Representatives”), – who willingly undertake the obligations stipulated under these Rules, guarantee to fulfil the conditions outlined in these Rules and bear the responsibility to AETIS as if they agreed to the terms of these Rules, have a right to use the paid Services.

Before using the Services, the User (or his/her Legal Representatives) shall read these Rules and, if necessary, obtain his/her Legal Representatives’ consent.

For the avoidance of doubt, by continuing to use the Site and (or) the Services, the User thereby acknowledges that he/she has read these Rules and that the provisions of these Rules apply and are legally binding to the User.

The User understands and accepts that the Site and the Services are provided “as is”, and that AETIS is not responsible for the uninterrupted operation of the Site and the ability to access the Services, for the safety of information stored on the Site and for the other circumstances that are beyond AETIS’s control as well.

1. GENERAL TERMS

1.1. These Rules are a legally binding agreement between the User and AETIS (hereinafter collectively referred to as the “Parties” and individually may be referred to as the “Party”), which determines the conditions of using the Site, as well as Parties’ rights and obligations arising from the use of the Services.

1.2. By using the Services, the User agrees with these Rules, which along with AETIS’s Privacy Policy, allow the User to use the Site and to access to the Services. The User may use the Services if he/she has the necessary and sufficient rights to enter into the agreement with AETIS under the applicable law. If, under the applicable law outlined in clause 9.2. of these Rules, the User is an individual, then he/she shall be at least 13 (thirteen) years old to use the Site, including to complete the registration procedure. However, if the User is 13 (thirteen) years old but less than 16 (sixteen) years old, he/she shall also confirm that he/she, registering on the Site, provides Us with his/her personal data with the consent of his/her Legal Representatives; and We reserve the right to take all necessary measures to verify this fact.

By continuing to use the Site, the User confirms and guarantees that he/she is 18 (eighteen) years old or older, and, where necessary, he/she has the consent of his/her Legal Representatives to register on the Site and to provide Us with his/her personal data.

If the User has not reached the age of 18, his/her Legal Representative assumes the obligations outlined in these Rules, guarantees the obligation to fulfil the conditions set forth in the Rules, and bears responsibility to AETIS as if he/she agreed to the terms of these Rules. AETIS reserves the right (but not the obligation), at its sole discretion, to check the existence of such consent from the Legal Representative.
